

The scam

The scientists were in deep shit. How can we save ourselves, all of them asked. Well the truth is the truth, and it is of no favor to us. Therefore we have to come up with a scam.

They asked Bill, are you in? Bill had heard all the details. Why are they offering me this, he thought.

Well the scientists had to come up with a credible answer. But Bill resisted. He had figured out that if the scientists would succeed with luring enough people, he was in deep trouble. Reason is that no matter how well he behaved after the scientists had succeeded, he could be a target.

He knew that immoral people don't follow morals. And morals that people adhere to is like a protective shield to bad things that can happen, since if people adhere to morals, then you are more or less safe if you behave good.

Written 6 March 2016 by Per Trydell